POTTSBORO, Texas -- The Pottsboro Area Library will soon be known for more than books; it is opening its own "library of things."

The idea comes from a non-profit organization in the United Kingdom. Anyone with a library card can check out anything the library of things offers, including bikes, pressure cookers, carpet cleaners, wedding items, even power tools.

Think of it as a rental store without the rent.

All the items have been donated or purchased with donated money.

"It's about sustainability, really," explained library manager Teighlor Molignaro. "They can get rid of all their clutter, get things out of the way and learn to share as well, instead of just having all that stuff piled away, spending money on it when you only use it once a year."

Last year, the library launched a herb garden that's open to all.

The Pottsboro Area Library at 104 North Main Street is accepting donations for its library of things. You can either bring items or money to the library during normal business hours. Call 903-786-8274 for more information.

Pottsboro's "library of things" will loan a variety of merchandise. (KTEN)

POTTSBORO — Tables at the Pottsboro Area Public Library where stacked high Saturday with gently used children's clothes and toys galore as its staff eagerly awaited the beginning of its first children's clothing and toy swap.

Circulation Desk Manager Teighlor Molignaro said the event has been a learning experience for the staff and they can't wait to do it again.

"We had a few people donate a bunch of stuff," Molignaro said. However, she added, some people mentioned that they would have liked to have had more notice so they could have gathered up more stuff.

She said the idea is that people can drop off the things they no longer need and pick up what they might have a need for.

Children's clothing, she said, is one thing that people know can be expensive and only used for a short time span so why not pass it on?

That, she said, is in line with the library's stance on sustainability.

Library Director Dianne Connery said the library is all about bringing people in and helping them find the things they need to make their life better whether that be a book or a toy or clothes for their children. Events like the swap

CANNING 101

TAUGHT BY LEIANN STAGGS

CANNING WORKSHOP AT POTTSBORO AREA LIBRARY

A community garden in Pottsboro! What a great opportunity for young and old alike. After much research and deliberation, the items to grow are carefully chosen. You water, weed and nurture these plants. You watch as each plant as it grows and matures until it produces the beautiful food you saw on the seed packet. You have grown all this tasty food, now what?

We have the solution: Canning! Canning you say? I can't Can. Canning is hard. Fear not. Our Canning 101 class will teach you how fun and easy it is. One of our local Chefs will show you step by step basic canning techniques. You don't need a PhD or expensive tools either. We will discuss both water bath and pressure cooking canning. Come join us for a fun, fact filled time. You will leave with the confidence of knowing that you too can Can!

CANNING 101

WHEN
SATURDAY, JAN. 28TH 2017 AT
