

Dungeons & Dragons & Beyond: How to Run a Library RPG Program

Kirsten Weaver * Austin Senior * Christopher Brozo

In -Person Vs Virtual

What do you really need?

What do you really need?

What do you really need?

Optional Materials

Free Resources

Token Stamp

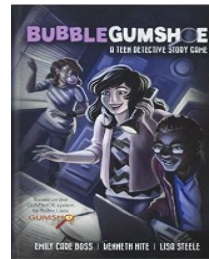

Fantasy Name Generators

Videos & Tutorials and other resources

RPGs are for all ages

How do you get started?

- Choose Your Game!
- Read and Watch videos about the basics of gameplay.
- Talk to people who play the game!
- Is there a premade adventure?
- Find online resources for free!
- HAVE FUN AND PLAY!!!

How We Run our Online D&D Sessions

► Roll20

► DNDBeyond

► Discord

► Zoom

► $Free or $Paid ($5/mo or $9/mo)

► Tabletop experience online

► Easy materials handling

► DM Features

Roll20

- ▶ $Free or $Paid ($3/mo or $6/mo)

- ▶ Making Characters

- ▶ Looking at official D&D books/rules

- ▶ Works with Roll20 (w/ paid accounts)

- ▶ Confession time: we don't use Zoom

- ▶ But you totally can

- ▶ Its fine

- ▶ Great for seeing & talking to your crew

- ▶ Great for seeing & talking to your crew
- ▶ Message board and text chat
- ▶ If one service goes down, everyone is still logged into the other
- ▶ Moderation capabilities

Contact Information

Kirsten Weaver

Teen Programming Specialist
The Indianapolis Public Library
40 E. St. Clair St.
Indianapolis, IN 46204
kweaver@indypl.org
317-275-4086

Christopher Brozo

Activity Guide
The Learning Curve @ Central Library
The Indianapolis Public Library
40 E. St. Clair St.
Indianapolis, IN 46204
cbrozo@indypl.org
317-275-4100

Austin Senior

Activity Guide
The Learning Curve @ Central Library
The Indianapolis Public Library
40 E. St. Clair St.
Indianapolis, IN 46204
asenior@indypl.org
317-275-4100

